

ABSTRACT

OSORIO, Mayra

Instituto de Astrofísica de Andalucía, Granada

A disk with a Spiral Structure and Solar System Size

I will present VLA observations of a disk around an intermediate protostar. These observations reveal a spiral structure likely linked with planet formation. We model the 7mm profile as well as the spectral Energy distribution which include existing Herschel far-IR data. The derived disk properties are consistent with the planet formation interpretation.